L. W. GAISFORD, Mgr.

E. H. Stout, of Mont Peller, Idaho, spent part of last week here, being called here by the serious illness of Mrs. Stout, who is visiting here with her daughter, Mrs. W. D. Edmonds. Mr. Stout was formerly a resident of this city, being the local manager for the Consolidated Wagon and Machine Co. at this point for eight years. While a resident here he was one of the most ardent workers for public improvements, it being mainly due to his efforts that the laying of the cement sidewalks was started in this city, with the result that we now have more miles, probably than any other city of our size in the state. He was also a booster for the Commercial Club, being president and vice-president of that organization for a number of years, and it was a live wire those days.

Out This Out

A clearing house of building ideas for the prospective home builder—

—that correctly describes our lumber office, and especially so for the man who wants a combination of attractiveness and moderate cost in his new home.

A few minutes spent in looking over our "Cottage Home Series" of Customers-Aid Plans, may readily prove worth your while.

These Customers-Aid Plans are what their name implies. They do not attempt the completeness and thoroughness available from the professional architect.

—but they will help you to get your ideas carried out by either your architect or your contractor.

And the service costs you nothing.
